

READBEAST

BEASTIALITY STORIES

As I said in canine virginity thread, I let my dog mount and tie with me just about everyday after my classes. This thread will be about how I now try to go to a class with my dog's sperm inside of me.

There was a semester of school where on Mondays I didn't have to go to any classes that early in the morning. Allowing for a more leisurely morning where it wasn't all business of showering, eating then going to class. This also made for more fun Sunday nights. There was a Sunday where I had been flirting with a friend with benefits through text messages, but I wasn't feeling well that night, so we didn't get together. This left me really horny before bed. Normally that isn't a problem, just call Duke into the bedroom and that urge is satisfied and then some in about 30 minutes, but it won't be happening tonight.

So, that leaves me really horny on a Sunday night but not feeling up to actually doing anything on a night where the next morning has some free time in it.

I manage to fall asleep, having a fever makes that easy lol, wake up the next morning horny as hell. Once again, the obvious does not strike me and I go through my normal morning routine of making breakfast and showering, just horny, hoping it'll subside until after my classes.

Anyways, I go through my morning routine, eating first, then shower. My horniness does indeed subside while I'm making and eating breakfast and generally getting ready for my classes, but it skyrockets once I'm in the shower, but I don't usually masturbate in the shower, so I still resist the urge. As I'm leaving the shower in my towel and on my way to the bedroom and I see Duke and that lightbulb in my head goes off. Bless that lightbulb, it may be slow but it gets there! There was just one problem, my first class of the day started soon because being a female I like to shower right before I go out so I can be as fresh and pretty as possible.

Horniness was too much though, I just said to myself we'll skip the licking and go straight to mounting since I'm as wet as I ever get! So I call him over and pretty much just hope his knot is on the shorter end today and take him into my bedroom.

We get in the room, I drop my towel to my feet, climb on the bed on my hands and knees, head down and present my pussy to Duke. He wastes no time, jumps up on his hind legs, puts his front paws on my bare hips and skillfully guides the tip of his sheath towards my opening. As normal I use one hand to guide him to the correct opening, the tip of his sheath finds it and his penis extends quickly and fully into me.

He pounds away at me for about five minutes, which doesn't sound long but trust me, it feels like an eternity, then his knot starts swelling up. We hit the 10 minute mark and I'm starting to hope he finishes soon so I can still make it to class somewhat on time. I start getting nervous when I don't feel it getting any smaller but I'm not about to force him out lol. It's at that point I remember Mondays tend to be a longer knot since we don't usually do it on the weekends. So now he's probably going to be more than 15 total minutes. Turns out 15 minutes almost exactly he stays inside of me. His sperm floods out of me as he pulls out and I take a few seconds to enjoy the feeling, then get up and put on my clothes and don't have time to do my hair or anything.

I get to class only a few minutes late, take a seat and start getting into "school mode". It didn't take long for me to realize that "Oh my god his sperm is leaking out!". This came as a shock to me because normally I don't mate with Duke under time constraints, after he pulls out, I just stay on my hands and knees and let him clean up and most of his sperm comes out in a few minutes, which I forgot that it can take a while for all of it to come out.

So there I sit in a full classroom and I realize that his semen has been leaking into my underwear pretty much the whole time they've even been on. I started squirming a bit in my chair and pretty much feel myself get horny again knowing that there was dog semen inside of me and leaking into my underwear and no one around me was the wiser.

The worst, or best, part of the whole thing was that I had no time between classes to go home and change underwear, I was stuck either wearing them or taking them off. I chose to keep them on during my next two classes.

From that point forward I was hooked to the excitement of being in public with dog sperm inside of me. After that I modified our mating schedule, we do it after classes still, but if I have plans to be out with friends or just some sort of public event, I'll put it off until right beforehand. Shower first, then we do a normal "session" of starting with licking, then I present myself to be mounted, he does his thing, I put on my underwear shortly afterwards then continue getting ready to go out. Then I go out with Duke's hot sperm inside of my pussy and slowly leaking into my underwear.

Since then I have been to numerous lunches, dinners, movies, parties and school functions with his semen soaking my underwear. Some of those lunches, dinners and movies were with my parents for what it's worth, but most were with my friends.

And I think that just about covers how I came to going out in public with Duke's hot semen inside of me.