

READBEAST

BEASTIALITY STORIES

Maria was enjoying a beautiful autumn day; the temperature was just a bit cool, but very comfortable. All around her the leaves on the trees were beginning to change color; the leaves turning gold, red, and orange. The pastureland she was wandering through was still green, lush from summer rains. She was dressed simply for her outing, wearing a knee-length skirt that showed off her legs, and a snug fitting sweater that allowed her pert breasts to be outlined attractively. Her mid-length hair was pulled back and tied into a ponytail, which swung from side to side as she walked along. She caught a flash of movement to her left, and saw a dog moving along in the same direction as she was headed. It did not appear to be paying her any attention, so she kept strolling along, breathing deeply of the fresh air. A few minutes later she caught another movement on her right, and there was another dog there, also walking in the same direction and not paying her any attention. She thought it was odd that the dogs were out here without anyone with them, but shrugged it off and continued walking.

Time passed as she enjoyed the scenery and the fresh air, and then she heard a low but sharp bark from behind her. She looked back and saw a dog slowly approaching her. It looked to be a German Shepard, and the largest one she had ever seen! It must have been close to 45kg! He looked very muscular, and had a scar across his face. She watched carefully as he approached. He did not seem aggressive, he was just watching her and steadily coming closer. He stopped a little way from her and just sat there watching, occasionally wagging his tail. She was a bit apprehensive, but she loved dogs, so she talked to him and beckoned him to her. He stood and walked toward her, sniffing at the back of her hand. She petted him and he seemed to like it and came closer, sniffing at her and finally shoving his snout into her crotch. Startled, she remembered that she was ovulating, and that was probably what he was so interested in.

She sensed some movement and, looking both ways, noticed that the other two dogs had moved much closer to her and were just sitting and watching her. She began to feel a little nervous, so she started back the way she had come. The large dog backed up a little as she moved forward. She tried to go around him, but he moved to block her. She turned to walk in another direction but the other dogs blocked her wherever she turned. She was getting scared now, although none of the dogs were really acting aggressively. She decided to keep going the way she had been going, and the dogs just walked along with her, not interfering at all. She was puzzled but kept going. She would hit a road soon and catch a ride back to the place where she was staying. She was approaching an area where there was a large clump of trees that seemed to be enclosing a small glade. As she started to pass the entrance to it, the dog on her left moved in on her, forcing her to turn toward the glade. She did not want to go in there, so she turned and started to walk back, but the dog on the right blocked her. She was being herded into the glade by the dogs!

She stood for a minute, then noticed that the large dog had come closer. She started to get really scared and tried to keep going forward. The dogs kept trying to herd her. She started to panic, and then, against everything she knew about animals, she began to run to get away from the glade and the dogs. The big dog, the Alpha Male, ran after her and knocked her down. She fell on her hands and knees and the dog mounted her in one swift move, his dew claws scratching her waist and upper thighs. The dog was growling lowly, and started to lightly bite her neck to hold her still. Meanwhile, the other two dogs had run up and were tearing at her dress. She felt it rip and felt the cold air on her scantily clad ass. A dog ripped off her panties and started to lick her ass and pussy. The Alpha growled and snarled at him and started to hump at her! His cock found her entrance and thrust savagely into her. She screamed as the dog's large cock crashed into her cervix! She could feel the pressure of the dog's knot forming inside her, pulsing against her g-spot. She had fucked a few dogs in her time, having worked for a female veterinarian who was into K9, so she knew what was coming, but it was far beyond anything she had experienced. The knot swelled within her and the dog started to pump his cum into her. She began to orgasm despite the situation, she had become aroused as the dog held her and fucked her. Her nipples were stiff and hard. He tied with her, and after a few minutes with his weight on her back, panting and drooling, he turned and snarled at the nearby dogs. Her experienced kicked in when he turned, so she rested her head on the soft green grass and reached behind her to get ahold of his hind legs and stop him from suddenly pulling his cock out of her.

His cock was in her for over 30 minutes. She had been bearing down with her pussy muscles to help keep him in, she did not want to bear the pain if he pulled out too soon. Finally she felt his knot go down, so she relaxed and released his legs, and he pulled out. His cum gushed from her pussy. The Alpha then moved off and laid down and began licking his cock. The other dogs moved in and started licking her ass and pussy, snarling and snapping at each other. Then one of them mounted her and began fucking her, and soon knotted in her. She could feel his cum filling her to overflowing. By now she had lost track of the times she had cum, and was shocked to realize that she was actually enjoying this! Her arms were getting tired so she crossed her arms and laid her head on them... her ass was in the air and the dog stayed in her for 20 or more minutes, then pulled out. The other dog immediately took his place, plunging his cock into her cum-soaked pussy; fucked her, knotted her, and tied with her. He stayed inside her for yet another 15 or 20 minutes. She had lost track of time, but from the position of the sun she guessed she had been gone for several hours, at least. She was just lying there, enjoying the incredible sensation of having her pussy ravaged by a pack of dogs!

After they had done with her she stood up and looked down at herself. She was completely naked now, and cum mixed with a little blood from the scratches, covered her thighs and legs. How was she going home looking like this? An unexpected answer came in the form of the Alpha baring his teeth and growling deeply at her, while making small moves toward her. Startled, she moved in the direction of the glade. The dogs kept herding her into the glade, and whenever she stopped the large dog would come up and growl at her. They were herding her into the glade! She did not feel she had a choice but to go. She was still scared, but the dogs had not really harmed her... were they just playing with her? When she got into the glade she noticed that there was a small pond, and behind it there appeared to be a rock wall screened by trees. A number of dogs were lying in front of a low opening at the base of the wall. They must be runaways and were living here, and off the land. There was plenty of small game around. The dogs continued to herd her toward the opening. The male dogs were interested in her, but the females seemed hostile, snarling and growling. When she was right in front of the pack of dogs, the Alpha knocked her down again, and immediately mounted her, pounding into her with his engorged cock, making her his Bitch for all to see. His knot seemed larger than before, stretching her. She started cumming again as the dog spurted his large load of hot dog cum into her, holding her by the neck with his mouth again. His hassling in her ear thrilled her and she was cumming and moaning with the pleasure. After a few minutes he turned suddenly, and snarled and growled at the dogs sniffing around her. His knot was jerked out of her painfully, and the dog stood astraddle her, growling, snarling, bearing his teeth. He was telling the pack that she was HIS and that he only shared when he wished to. At last he moved off with a final snarl and laid down with the bitches. The other dogs, there were about six now, moved in and started to lick the cum out of her, and then mounted her by turns, fucking her, knotting her, cumming in her in a savage assault on her senses that went on and on.

When the dogs were finally done with her she lay there trembling, feeling more satiated than she had ever felt before. She should have been scared, but it was never a violent thing, and before it had really gotten started she had become a willing participant. She lay there for a while resting... she had really taken a wonderful pounding by the dogs! Her pussy was still throbbing, and it felt like all her sensitive lady parts were on fire. She sighed and looked around to find something to wipe her pussy and legs clean of all the dog cum, but all her clothes were gone and there was nothing else but grass. She took a handful and wiped herself. She got up and made a move toward the entrance to the glade, wondering if the dogs were going to try to stop her, but then some of the dogs moved to block her. The Alpha got up and forced her to go into the cave. Once inside he more or less guided her to a large pallet of grasses, and looked inquiringly at her, his head tilted intelligently, ears pricked. She got the message that this was her new home and crawled onto the pallet.

For the rest of the day, and periodically during the night, the pack bred her. Her pussy, and occasionally her asshole and her mouth, was thoroughly fucked. She was exhausted come daylight, but weakly crawled outside and to the pond for some water, then found a place to pee. The females snarled and growled at her. She washed as best she could to get the cum and blood off of herself, then went back to the front of the cave. The Alpha was there, and he moved toward her. She thought of him as King now, and knew what he wanted. Instead of getting on all fours with her ass in the air, she laid on her back, spread her legs wide, and held her arms out for him. He got the idea and came up and straddled her. She found his cock, which seemed larger than ever, and guided him into her. His wonderful cock filled her and he thrust at her wildly, his knot swelling to gigantic proportions inside her. She started to have multiple orgasms as he seeded her copiously. She started to kiss the sides of his snout as he spurted his cum endlessly into her Bitch's Cunt. She was his now, for better or worse, and was confident that soon she would be his Queen as well.

She went back into the cave to rest, and found that the bitches had pissed all over her pallet. She angrily turned on them, growling and threatening them. All but the Alpha Bitch backed off from the unexpected aggression she had shown. Maria began to assert herself, gathering up some scraps to eat. She had to stay strong for the pack. That night King allowed the pack to have her again, and they bred her roughly, some fucking her asshole again. That was something she had never had done much of, and she was worried that she would be torn, but her wanton needs seemed to allow her asshole to relax and take it. All through the night they were after her, fucking her in turns. Again in the morning she was exhausted, too tired to get up and go out for water and to pee. She was full of the dog's cum. Then an amazing thing happened... King brought a nice meaty bone and dropped it in front of her. She ate it hungrily, gaining strength by the minute. When she was through with it she went outside and drank deeply, then went off to the side and peed. When she went back to the pack gathered in the front of the cave, she snarled and growled at the Alpha Bitch, and so did King. SHE was his Queen and the Alpha Bitch now! The other bitches welcomed her, licking at her to clean her up. The ex-Alpha slunk off and made herself scarce.

During the following weeks King allowed the other males to breed her less and less, , mostly limiting them to nocturnal sessions, taking her by turns under his watchful eye. Eventually he stopped them all together, and left the other bitches to them. He began to exclusively breed her. He was so virile and powerful that he filled her with joy, fucking her many times, day and night. She picked out the best of the bitches and encouraged King to breed her; he must pass on his genes to keep the pack viable! They began to develop some level of understanding, and she was able to communicate to him that she must go and prepare a place for the pack, for the winter was fast approaching. It had been warm enough that her nakedness was not a problem, curled up next to King during the cool nights, but she knew there could be heavy snows in these hills, and that they must move to a lower and more sheltered location. One day she beckoned him and they walked out of the glade. She hugged and kissed and petted him, and he made love to her one more time, and then she walked toward the highway, looking wistfully back at him and waving. He sat there, watching her till she was out of sight, looking very sad.

When she got to the highway she was soon picked up and taken to a hospital, where she was treated for dehydration and malnutrition, as well as for the scratches and bruises she had. She discovered that her friends had been searching in the complete wrong direction, and she reinforced that she was not in the area where her pack was. She told the police she had been abducted by a bunch of crazy satanists, who performed all kinds of sexual rituals on her until she was able to escape. She had no idea where she had been taken or how long she had been gone. Her scratches had mostly healed and she claimed they were marks from the whips the crazies had used on her. She told all kinds of lurid tales about the things they did to her; anal probes, all kinds of insertions in her pussy, along with forced anal, vaginal and oral copulation. As soon as she could she got out of the hospital, said goodbye to her friends and headed home.

Her grandfather had left her a significant trust fund, and she used this to locate a ranch at a far lower altitude than where the dogs were presently located. She planted a fall vegetable garden, and stocked the pantry, cooler, and freezer with food for herself and her pack. She prepared the farm house for herself and King, and the bunkhouse for the rest of the pack. After she had the farm prepared she visited her friend and former lover Tracy, who was the Vet she had once worked for, and bought a large supply of veterinarian medicines and flea & tick dips and powders. She had considerable knowledge of veterinarian practice, and also had some reference texts. She also bought some brushes and combs, as well as soaps and shampoos. As she stood at the counter ready to pay for her purchases, Tracy asked her what she needed all the supplies for. She gave her friend a coy smile and told her it was for her family, and that if she would like to come by and visit all of them, and her new home, she would be more than welcome. Tracy said to give her a call, that she had some days off planned, and it might just be the right time for a visit. Maria said she would call as soon as she was settled. She then rented a large stake bed truck and drove it to a place she had scouted just off the highway, near where the pack was. She walked in to them, and they were so happy to see her! She was also very happy, she had been gone a long time! King welcomed her most of all. He had become rather thin and she thought he had missed her desperately. She hugged and kissed him and fed him some nutritious treats, then they made wonderful love. She thrilled and came endlessly as his cock filled her and his knot pulsed inside her. She gave the rest of the pack some treats and then she set out toward where the truck was, side by side with King. The rest of the pack hesitated but King barked at them and they came running. She reached the truck and got the pack loaded, with King sitting beside her in the front seat, looking all around in interest. She drove them to their new home, and when she got there she let them out of the truck and they ran around discovering everything. She led King into their home and showed it to him. He obviously understood it was now their lair. She called her Vet friend, Tracy, told her she was settled and asked her to come by for a visit, as well as to give her a little help with some treatment issues for her dogs while she was there. Her friend agreed and got the directions and said she would be there the next day. Maria thanked her and told her she could sure use both the help and the companionship.

She wondered how her friend would take it when she came to visit and found her naked, with all the dogs around her, but she figured her friend would be fine with it. She was sure though, that she wouldn't be reported to any authorities, for Tracy was also into K9! Early the next morning she heard a truck roll up the driveway, and the dogs started barking and growling. She hurried outside to let them know it was OK, and that Tracy was a friend. Maria welcomed the very surprised Vet to her new home, her being naked and surrounded by her pack. She had thought about showing better manners and throwing on a dress when she heard the Tracy's truck roll up, but had said the hell with it! After a quick tour around the property they sat down and Maria started to tell Tracy the truth about her disappearance. How she had been gang-fucked by all the dogs, and how she was now not only a member of the pack, but was also the Alpha Bitch. Tracy looked at Maria with disbelief, not that she could blame her, she knew how crazy it all sounded. She then smiled at Tracy and told her it was OK if she didn't believe her right now, she would when she got to see it for herself. With that Maria got up and called her lover and began to brush and comb him, as Tracy sat and watched for a while before she sat down next to them and started to help. Together they bathed him and treated him for worms and parasites, and gave him his shots. He endured it all like he knew they were trying to help him. Together they prepared a good meal for him, using meat and vegetables, and some supplements and fish oil. Then, with his assistance, they rounded up the rest of the dogs and ran them through a dipping tank to kill the parasites and then gave them all checkups and shots and a good meal too. They were all brushed, combed and bathed by the end of the day. The bitch she had allowed King to breed was pregnant and well long, so she was giving extra treatments, pre-natal supplements, and a special diet. Fortunately Tracy was not only a Vet, but was one that specialized in the breeding of purebred dogs. In addition she did university-level research into animal and human genetics, and had written many papers on the subject that had been published in medical journals.

Both women were dirty from all the work and Tracy's clothes were dirty and drenched. Tracy changed into her running outfit and told Maria to take a shower while she went for a short run, then she could have one when she got back. Maria agreed, and she realized it had been a long while since she had had shaved; and that her legs, pussy and armpits had visible hair growth. She thought about leaving it as it was, but decided to take it all off, after all it made her feel more feminine to be shaved. When she came out of the shower, she found Tracy in the kitchen. She had started making dinner and asked Maria to finish it while she took a quick shower. After they had eaten, King came to Maria, and gently licked her thigh. She gave Tracy an apologetically look, and told her that King wanted her now. Her statement was met with a smile, so she slid to the floor, got on her hands and knees and King mounted her as Tracy started to clear the table.

Tracy was soon finished with the task and sat down with a glass of wine to observe the two lovers first hand. She felt a stirring in her loins as she watched the incredible spectacle. She undressed and sat fingering her pussy as King gave Maria one of the best fucks he had ever given her, making her moan and cum many times before he was done. Maria looked up and was staring right into Tracy's wet pussy. She smiled broadly and told Tracy to get down on the floor. Maria urged King to come over and when he did Tracy began to play with his still damp cock sheath. King looked inquiringly at Maria, and she told him it was OK and urged him to service her friend. King had amazing recovery powers and after a few minutes of licking Tracy's pussy, he mounted her. It was now Maria's turn to sit and sip wine as King gave Tracy the fuck of her life, pounding into her, making her squeal and moan and cum repeatedly. When he finally pulled out of her, Tracy found herself now staring at Maria's still dripping cunt. It was not the first time they had shared a dog, and each other, so Tracy crawled over and began licking King's cum out of Maria. Soon they were both rolling around on the floor kissing each other and winding up in a 69 position with their faces buried in each others crotches, licking and sucking King's cum out of each other as he laid watching with what seemed an amused expression.

After they lounged around on the floor for a while, the girls got up and started to talk. Before long they had come upon a plan. Tracy had been hopelessly in love with Maria for years and was eager to get back into some kind of relationship with her. She would move in with Maria and King, giving Maria all the time she could wish for to manage her pack without having to worry about running out of supplies or other mundane things. Tracy would move her office nearby and would thus be able to deal with things like supplies while she commuted back and forth to work. She would live in the bunkhouse and service the rest of the males in the pack, and have meals with Maria and King... and some extracurricular activities. Tracy left them and went to the bunkhouse where she was welcomed by all, except for the ex-Alpha Bitch, whom she soon displaced from her second place spot.

In the morning Tracy near staggered into the kitchen for coffee. She was naked and dirty, with dog cum matted in her pubic hair and caked on her thighs. Her pussy was swollen and still dripping. She had been mounted and fucked more times in that night than in her whole life combined, and had a silly grin on her face. She told Maria that she now believed everything she had been told about Maria's experiences, and shuffled off to a shower with her coffee. She returned to see King breeding Maria, but for once she was only interested in getting some bacon, eggs and toast going.

The weeks passed in idyllic fashion. Tracy had moved in, and had also relocated her office. The pack was now looking much more healthy and happy. King serviced Maria all the time, keeping a big smile on her face. She adored her true love! Tracy had settled in with the pack and was getting just enough breeding to keep her happy but not exhausted. Soon the bitch was ready to have her litter, and Maria was thankful to have her Vet friend there with them as they prepared a birthing place for her. She had a nice litter of six, all healthy and begging for their mothers milk. With all the sex she had been getting Maria had started to lactate, so she took two of the strongest male puppies and nursed them herself. Her breasts had grown large and full of milk due to some instinctive need to take care of her pack. She proudly nursed the pups, watching them suckle on her swollen nipples while the preening daddy sat by her side, licking at her tits occasional to get escaping rivulets of milk. Maria smiled broadly as she looked around at what she had built, and at the cute puppies at her breast. They were home and she had a good friend and her family all around her. What else could any woman ask for?

Tracy thought she had an answer to that. She and Maria had become close again, so Tracy revealed to her something she had been working on for many years in secret. Her secret ambition for half her life had been to be bred by a dog and have puppies. However, she was 20 years older than Maria, and was no longer fertile. The discovery she believed she had made had come too late for her... but she could live it vicariously through Maria. She explained how she had developed a drug that would have the effect of allowing miss-paired human and canine chromosomes to act as if they were both canine. She had tested it as best she could and felt it was time for a real trial. She had intended to test it on herself but now that she was infertile she could not. The touching scene of Maria nursing the puppies had given her the courage to come clean with Maria and ask her if she would like to take her place in the trial. Maria was young, extremely healthy and at that exact point in time was ovulating and as fertile as she could be. It was the perfect time and place. Maria thought it over, and her own desire to have her own puppies overwhelmed her doubts about the drugs and possible negative results. She agreed to do it, and Tracy went back to her office, got the drugs and came home to administer the drug to Maria.

They continued their happy life, both Maria and Tracy caring for the pack and each other. Maria was glad to have some non-judgmental companionship around to talk to. They worked together well improving the farm and putting up fencing and gates to insure their privacy. They serviced the pack whenever it was wanted, making for some happy studs. The bitches had accepted the new order, except for the ex-Alpha who had eventually slunk away and left the pack. In two weeks Maria felt life in her belly and they were overjoyed... it was working! They prepared for the big event, trying not to let fear of the unknown spoil things. As the pregnancy proceed Tracy constantly monitored and performed tests and diligently recorded the results. After nine weeks Maria went into labor and amazingly was able to deliver four puppies! She cleaned each one up, gently licking them, and then she ate one of the placenta for the valuable hormones it provided her. They were perfectly formed canines, with no human traits that they could discern. Happy with the results and her own puppies Maria nursed them at her breasts. Tracy had developed her own sympathetic pregnancy and was lactating also, so she helped feed the pups. King was once again a happy daddy, nuzzling his puppies and licking them. The puppies grew rapidly with all the good food and the constant medical care that Tracy provided. They quickly noticed that the pups were unusually alert and soon proved to be highly intelligent, learning far more quickly than either Maria or Tracy had ever seen. As they grew it seemed that they could anticipate and react to events that other dogs ignored, and had an innate communication ability with Maria and Tracy. They had an almost human intelligence, picking up on any mood or unusual look or action. It seemed that the only reason possible was that they had gotten some human intelligence gene after all! Now, as Maria and Tracy once again looked around at what they had built and developed, they truly wondered what more a woman could want.